DALLAS -- Juice-BX, a manufacturer of charging stations for phones and other smart devices, has relocated its corporate office to its new 26,000 sq.ft. Capital Factory facility located at 3102 Oak Lawn Ave, Dallas, TX 75219.

Capital Factory is a hub for tech startups in Texas. It operates two venture funds, an accelerator, more than 80,000 sq.ft. of co-working office space, and hosts events for entrepreneurs and investors.

"We are excited about our new office at Capital Factory," said Juice-BX chief executive Robert Brevette. "This move is an integral part of our strategic growth plans. It complements our transition from product development and production to scaling the business and raising our next capital financing round. We look forward to working with Capital Factory's global network of entrepreneurs, partners and investors."

Juice-BX has offices in Fort Worth, Cupertino and Seattle. Its Austin office will open later this summer.
